PROMINENT ARRIVALS.

Fifth Avenue Hotel.—William E. Chandler, of New-Haven, Conn., arrived here on the 11th inst. on the New-Haven, and will remain here for some time.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Barrels are doing well in Harlem. Smoking-cars on the elevated roads are desired by many passengers. The sign of "Barber & Carver" in Grand-st. is full of encouragement.

Paris-pieces near Church-st. are almost blocked with large boxes and barrels. A great variety of articles manufactured from olive-wood is exhibited for the holidays.

The negro colony is not confined to Thompson-st. One-hundred-and-thirty is full of Africans.

The new building of the Second Baptist Society is the only handsome church edifice in the lower part of Harlem.

Perfumed artificial flowers in pots, and made of celluloid, are now exhibited with holiday goods, and are in great demand.

The lighting of so frequented a corner as that of Third-ave. and One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth is entirely insufficient.

A unique head-dress lately seen was a turban made of the skin of a tiger kitten, the only ornament being a claw of the baby beast.

ADDS TO CLASSICAL STUDY. The Astor Library is a favorite resort for undergraduates. There are said to be excellent facilities for the classical students—"bicycles" they are now called. "Tony" was the old name.

A DISPLAY OF OLD SILVER. A jeweller's window in Fifth-ave. is filled with quaint pieces of silverware in the severest of the styles they were imported from Holland, and consist of portinners, cream-jugs, gravy-boats, snuffers and candlesticks.

CONTRIBUTING MONEY FOR IRELAND. The Fifth Ward Branch of the Irish Land League held a meeting at Temperance Hall, No. 78 Varot-st., yesterday. About 100 members were present, and $107 was added to the working fund. The names of thirty-five names to the roll increased the membership to 270.

A STREET BAND CONCENTRATED. A wholesale musician has appeared in the streets. "He's a whole brass band all in himself," said a passerby yesterday. He plays in an accordion, while he has a brass drum, a snare drum and a triangle strapped to his back, which are played on by means of a chain which runs to his feet. He also blows a cornet. He should certainly "have a bell."

A CHIEF AT THE AQUARIUM. The New-York Aquarium Building will, on December 20, be occupied by Mr. John H. Murray's circus. The interior of the Aquarium will be closed. It is supposed to be the best talent, and to present performances that will compare favorably with any ever seen in the metropolis. The business management of the circus will be undertaken by Mr. J. H. Murray.

STUDENTS WHO CANNOT AGREE. There is a political deadlock in the junior class of the University of the City of New-York. An editor of the University Chronicle is to be elected, and there are two candidates with an equal support. To prevent the president from casting a deciding vote, when a class meeting is called one faction will stay away, thus preventing a quorum; the next day the game is reversed, and the result is the same.

BROOKLYN. The ponds in South Brooklyn were thronged with boys and girls skating yesterday.

Strangers in the city are perplexed by the way Fulton-st. is numbered above the City Hall.

Bernard Farrell, age two, died Friday from injuries received from a fall from a building in front of his home, No. 378 B'way.

Religious discussions have taken the place of politics. Two men, while debating the merits of their respective churches, almost came to blows yesterday on one of the Fulton Ferry boats.

Bridget Egan, age fifty, of No. 236 Hamilton-st., was found sick in Court-st., near Butler-st., Saturday night. She was taken to the Third Precinct Station, where she died in a short time.

Four men were taken from the streets for intoxication. One of them, named Dr. Shaw, the medical superintendent, with a razor, and was overpowered with difficulty. The Charity Commissioners are to investigate the matter.

F. Ferry, age twenty-four, was arrested Saturday night at No. 214 Quincy-st. for passing bogus checks on a number of grocers, among them H. Watson, of Hart and Lewis-aves., and Marquand & Tompkins, of No. 1,119 Fulton-st., November 29. Ferry acknowledged his guilt.

An unknown woman called at No. 173 Joralemon-st., Saturday evening, and gave a note to the servant, who answered the door for her mistress, Mrs. Schmidt. The woman said she would wait for an answer, but when the servant returned she had gone, having taken with her two overcoats worth $20.

LONG ISLAND. ANTHONYVILLE.—Joseph Ketcham, of Anthonyville, while returning from his work Tuesday, was thrown from his truck and the wheels passing over him he was badly crushed that he died the next day.

SOUTH OYSTER BAY.—Haywood Prince, of the New-York Stock Exchange, and William L. Vanderhoof, of St. Louis, have each purchased from William Ford Jones a site of twenty acres at South Oyster Bay, upon which to build summer homes.

FARMINGDALE.—William Steuts, of Farmingdale, while on his way home from Patchogue with a load of grain one evening last week, was attacked and robbed. He was found by his wife to be missing when the horse reached home. His pocket-book and a bag of grain were taken. His head was seriously injured.

NEW-YORK CITY.—The young man named Blydenburgh, who mysteriously disappeared last summer, and who was supposed to have met with foul play, has returned unexpectedly to his father's house in New-York. It is reported that he has been on a Southern voyage, and that his mother-in-law was the cause of his going away.

HEMPSTEAD.—John E. Eldred, treasurer of the Board of School Trustees of Hempstead, has been missing since October 15. It is said that his accounts are unsettled, and that he has money in his possession belonging to the school fund. It is also alleged that he is indebted to the Rutgers Insurance Company for money collected on policies.

WESTVILLE.—A man and woman from New-York some time last spring took two children to Westville, where the children boarded during the summer with a family named Van Wickham. For several months past both visits and board money have been stopped, and it is believed to be a case of desertion. The County Superintendent of the Poor refused to pay the board bill.

OYSTER BAY.—John J. Whitney and James Lyster, two prominent men in Queens County, died recently within a few days of each other. Both were residents of Oyster Bay. For several years Mr. Lyster was Supervisor of the town and one of the trustees of the Jones Fund for the support of the poor. Mr. Whitney was assessor and collector for several terms, and in 1879 ran as a candidate for Sheriff of Queens County.

SAVILL.—A colored woman living at Saville, said to be of old Virginia stock, made application to a Justice of the Peace one day last week for permission to give a "Lone Island nigger" a good whipping. She said the woman had been whipped $10 from her, and now she would not pay it, she wanted to "take it out of her." She was willing to pay the cost, if the Justice would only give his consent. It was suggested that she might get whipped in jail, but she said that she "could whip any Lone Island nigger who wouldn't pay her debts." She was at last permitted to go home.

FRANKLINVILLE.—The two young men, Frederick Vinton and James Flanagan, who made an outrageous attack upon Christopher Raynor, at Franklinville, Wednesday night, have this far eluded arrest. Flanagan left the town on the train Friday, leaving a track for Flanagan, but a Deputy Sheriff followed him to the train. Flanagan jumped off before he reached Yaphank and escaped. Vinton was arrested by Constable Ricker at a store in Jamestown Friday evening. On his promising to go with the officer quietly Ricker refrained from handcuffing him. Vinton, however, escaped, walked to Greenport that night, and the next morning went to Connecticut on the steamer Manhattan.

STATEN ISLAND. New-Brighton.—Strangers have hard work to get the names of the streets. A native was asked yesterday about a certain street, and replied that he did not know that there was any such street in town; he had lived in the same house for many years, but did not know even the name of the street in which his house stands.
